The Ethnic Diversity Advisory Committee (EDAC) of the Southeast Athletic Trainers' Association (SEATA) is proud and honored to announce the creation of the Arnold T. Dr. Bell was a long-time member of SEATA and advocate for higher education. He served as a Professor of Physical Therapy and Athletic Training at both Florida A&M University and Florida State University. This scholarship is dedicated to memorializing and honoring the numerous contributions to the profession of athletic training and his advocacy for ethnic diversity. Dr. Bell died in September of 2013.

Arnold Tooson Bell, PhD, ATC, RPT

" Dr. Bell was a great clinician, educator, and mentor. His quiet influences spread behind the classroom and fields of FAMU. His teaching touched many minority athletic trainers and physical therapists working around the country. I, and many of my colleagues, can personally attest to his teaching and mentorship which still have a positive impact on our careers today. This scholarship will provide opportunities for minorities within District IX to pursue sports medicine within the allied health profession."

– Mr. Monroe Abram, ATC, mentee, colleague, and past Chair of the SEATA Ethnic Diversity Advisory Committee (EDAC).

Born in Bronx, NY, Arnold graduated from Evander Childs High School and earned his bachelor's degree in Physical Education from Springfield College (MA). He continued his education by attaining a Master's in Exercise Science at Columbia University (NY), his Physical Therapy Certification at New York University, and finally his Doctorate in Higher Education from Florida State University. Dr. Bell was employed at Cleveland State University (OH); when, more than 30 years ago, he was recruited by Florida A&M University (FAMU) to establish its Physical Therapy Department.

Dr. Bell also worked as an athletic trainer with the U.S. Olympic Committee. While at FAMU, he worked extensively in athletics and was recognized as Teacher-of-the-Year in 2000-2001 for the School of Allied Health. He received the Outstanding Physical Therapist Award from Springfield College PT Department in 2000 and he was a Bill Chisholm Award recipient in 2004. He also served as a NATA Ethnic Diversity Advisory Council board member.
